Dear Parishioners,

I have just finished up in Bologna where I was given a farewell Mass and morning tea by the local parishioners. They keep telling me to stay and I keep telling them that I have two parishes in Melbourne to care for!! They have been most kind and welcoming. Always helps when you travel far from home.

I am currently in Rome for a few days before heading to American for my last conference. Weather is a bit cool but pleasant. Catching up for dinner with a number of Australian priests studying in Rome as well as my year-mate Fr John Healy who is also finishing his sabbatical before taking up his new parish of Laverton in January.

I am staying at Domus Australia which is a very welcoming place especially for first-time visitors to Rome from Australia. Attached to the Domus is the chapel of Our Lady of the Holy Rosary, so I will pray in particular for both parish communities and remember you all fondly at the evening Mass. Enough for now! Time to go shopping for a few more books!!

Every blessing, Fr Max Vodola
