Reflection

Listening to today's Word let us each reflect on what the real things are that threaten our personal Christian living. Thieves and brigands would be much easier to fight than the subtle dangers we Christians face today. The dangers that threaten us are more subtle. Our own hearts can readily leave the community lured by values that are not Christian eg. having greater profit margins, companies may reduce the workforce making many jobless, policies to limit refugee intake. These are gospel issues, not just economic or political ones.
